

DROUGHT CONDITIONS!

PLEASE REDUCE YOUR WATER USE

Governor Brown declares State of Emergency

Climate change is ushering in new uncertainties for our water system, and longer periods of drought are likely in the coming decades.

This challenge means we can no longer take a reliable water supply for granted. State and local water managers are working now on long-term solutions, but in the meantime, there is an immediate need for Californians to reduce their water use.

Conservation is one of the key strategies of a comprehensive solution to the state's water challenges – and it's something we can all do today.
